Measure your space

A simple starting point for your cabinetry design.

1 Get ready

Use a tape measure, pencil and this worksheet. Record every dimension in inches, including fractions; do not round. Have one person measure and record, then double-check.

2 Outline the room

Sketch the room from above and label each wall A, B, C and D. Measure each full wall corner to corner. Record floor-to-ceiling height in several places, plus any soffit height and depth.

3 Locate doors & windows

Measure from a labeled corner to the outside edge of trim, then the full trim-to-trim width and the remaining wall. Record opening height, floor-to-window-trim height, and door swing direction.

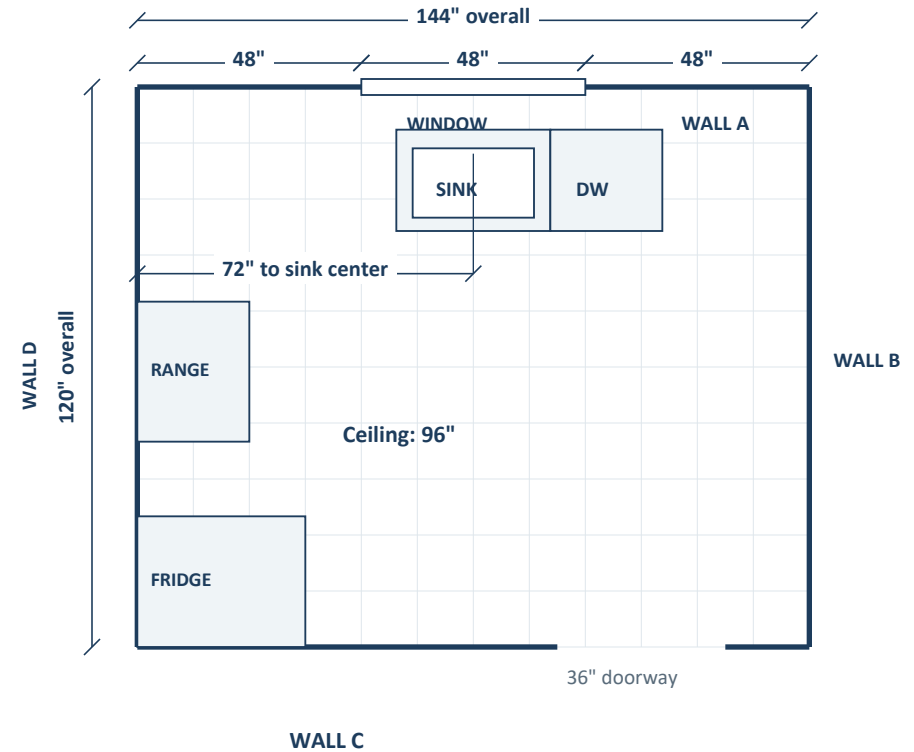

4 Add appliances & utilities

Record sink and appliance width, height and depth. Note model numbers if available. Locate the sink center and appliance edges from a labeled corner. Mark dishwasher side, plumbing, outlets, gas, vents and other obstructions.

For new appliances, provide manufacturer specifications and required clearances. Note existing items that will move.

BEFORE YOU SHARE

Check that wall segments add up to the full wall length. Include photos of every wall and close-ups of utilities and obstructions.

Planning measurements should be verified before cabinetry is ordered.
